

A B S T R A C T

The present invention concerns novel variants produced by alternative splicing of known genes, amino acid sequences of the variants as well as their uses in detection and therapy.